Industry-leading multi channel messaging platform that meets the demands of the cloud era

// Discover THOR and revolutionize communication

In the ever-evolving world of communication technology, staying ahead means embracing innovation that transforms interactions into seamless experiences. Tallence as a leader in cutting-edge technology solutions invites you to discover the unparalleled capabilities of THOR at Mobile World Congress (MWC) 2025 in Barcelona.

// What is THOR?

Tallence is pleased to announce THOR, a groundbreaking platform that takes telecommunications services to the next level. It enables providers to take advantage of the power of Kubernetes on-premise and in the cloud to deliver services with unparalleled efficiency and flexibility. This platform includes essential features such as voicemail and call forwarding, as well as IN security and peering services, and AI capabilities. It is the ultimate solution for organizations that want to provide high-performance voice, messaging, and communication services.

// Key features & benefits

> Comprehensive solutions
  THOR offers a wide range of functionalities, supporting telephony, messaging, and web services to enhance customer interactions. Prebuilt use cases like voicemail are covered out-of-the-box.

> Flexible deployment
  Available as a software license, managed service, or SaaS solution, THOR fits seamlessly into both private and public cloud environments, offering cost-effective deployment options.

> Versatile functionality
  With the graphical flow designer, a variety of solutions can be implemented easily and efficiently. THOR is widely utilized for functions beyond voicemail, including MCA, announcements, prepaid top-ups, fixed/mobile convergence capabilities, and customer support portals.

> Scalable & adaptable
  Its modular design allows for quick service creation and deployment, making it easy to scale and adapt to changing needs without incurring additional costs.
